

WESTERN DREDGING ASSOCIATION

Takes pleasure in presenting WEDA's 2015 Annual Safety Award to Manson Construction Company

Legacy Dredging Industry Safety Leadership

Founded by Peter Manson at the turn of the 20th Century, the company took seriously its responsibility to its employees, in true family-owned business fashion. This care and concern inspired Manson loyalties across multiple generations of clans around Puget Sound, and it continues today among people throughout the country.

Over time, Manson led the call for safety process improvements in word and action. Its call for incident- and injury-free safety more than a decade ago raised the bar on us all profoundly and helped usher in 21st Century dredging excellence.

Today, Manson's continuously-evolving safety culture drives operational excellence. All Manson employees champion safety for themselves and the people around them thorough planning, open communications, and mutual accountability. Manson's commitment to all entities associated with its projects is that they return home to their families each night healthy and whole.

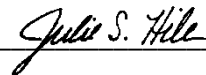

Manson professionals have shared their safety-related resources generously, supporting many of us ~~here~~ as have we struggled with our own safety challenges.

WEDA is proud to honor Manson Construction Co. for its legacy of safety leadership.

Congratulations, and thank you!
